

SUPREME COURT ORDERS INTEGRATION

Little Rock School Decision Unanimous

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ordered the Little Rock School Board to proceed with integration at Central High School.

The high court did so by upholding a decision of the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The circuit court had overruled a 2½-year delay in integration granted by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley on June 21.

THE SUPREME Court's decision was unanimous. Chief Justice Earl Warren read a brief order on behalf of the whole court.

Warren said the decision was effective immediately. This means that the Little Rock School Board is under orders of the Supreme Court to admit Negroes when Central High School opens for the fall term Monday.

Warren said the original U. S. District Court order of 1957 requiring desegregation was reinstated.

THE JUSTICES stayed on the bench only about five minutes — just long enough for Warren to read the three paragraphs which made up the historic opinion.

The ruling was couched largely in technical language and did not go into any elaboration of its 1953 decision about "All deliberate speed" in integration. Many attorneys and jurists had thought it would do so.

Nor did it say anything about force and violence at Little Rock. These subjects will be taken up at all, when the views supporting the judgment are released later.

WARREN SAID these views will be forthcoming "in due course."

It was 9:11 p.m. (p.d.t.) when the justices filed into the marble chamber to deliver the decision—11 minutes later than usual.

Lawyers who took part in the case waited tensely in the court room and the wings were filled with court personnel who had left their desks to be present at the historic moment.

However, a few seats in the spectators' section were empty.

ATTORNEY GENERAL William P. Rogers was present in the courtroom along with several of his top assistants.

Immediately after the historic ruling, Thurgood Marshall, the NAACP's chief counsel and veteran fighter on integration cases, said:

"We of course believe that such problems must be handled in the court and we assume that with this clear-cut judgment the legal atmosphere surrounding Central High School is now cleared up and neither the School Board nor the governor nor any other person in the state of Arkansas can even pretend not to know what the law is. Anything now done to prevent desegregation in Arkansas is in open defiance of the law."

ATTORNEY RICHARD C. Butler, who represented the Little Rock School Board, said the decision was "not unexpected by us." But he said he and his colleagues were "deeply disappointed" that the high court did not approve a delay in integration.

Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of Little Rock schools, said he would have no statement until he confers with the board. As to whether Central High School will open Monday on an integrated basis, that "depends on the governor," Blossom said.

City, Water Pollution Board Reach Agreement on Sewer Plant Water

Red China Pulls Troops Out of Korea

Warns Ready Now to Fight Other Places

TAIPEI, Formosa — UPI — Communist China warned today that the Chinese "volunteer" troops now being pulled out of North Korea were fully prepared to go "any place to fight against the aggressors," including the Quemoy area.

Communist China sent perhaps one million "volunteers" into North Korea to aid North Korean Communists fighting United Nations forces. They are being withdrawn into Manchuria and "are closely watching the situation in the Taiwan Straits area," Peiping Radio said.

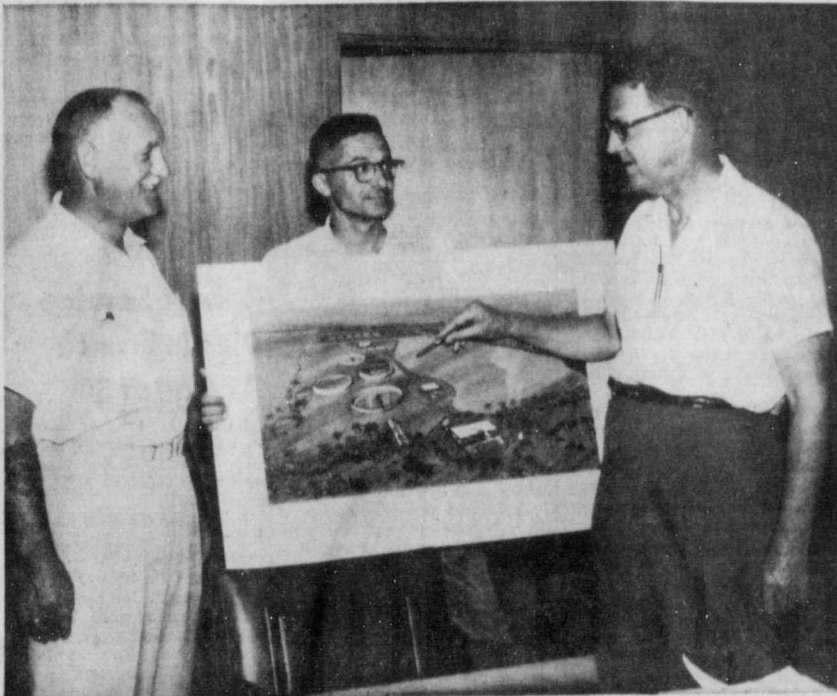

REPORTS FROM Quemoy said Nationalist frogmen there were removing underwater obstacles in hopes of carving out an emergency landing beach but that Red artillery was bombarding the island almost without letup.

The Communists drove back four Nationalist supply vessels Thursday with a record barrage that continued through the night and morning. The Defense Ministry said more than 60,000 shells hit Quemoy between 4 p.m. Thursday and 7 o'clock this morning.

REPORTS FROM Quemoy said underwater demolition teams had started clearing coastal mines and steel spike barricades from a new area sheltered by a 50-foot sheer cliff for a third landing ship beaching area. The Communists have made two other landing beaches unusable.

Other reports from Quemoy said the Nationalist garrison and civilian population numbering more than 100,000 were threatened with starvation unless supplies get through. The garrison also was short of medical supplies and of ammunition.

COMMUNIST China opened new propaganda attacks on the United States and Nationalists today and said 212 million persons had demonstrated against the United States in the last five days in one of the greatest popular protests in history.

CITY MANAGER ROBERT W. Peterson and Director of Public Works Frank Hamerslag listen while special engineering consultant Marion Crist explains how the new sewer plant will look, and the services it will perform. In the meeting of the city council yesterday, members agreed to build a full-treatment plant and indicated that it would be moved south from the present site to the south corner of the city owned property. A 20 acre park and nursery site will be located between the plant and the residential districts on the north and west.

Plant Location Changed on Site

Two meetings yesterday, one with the Water Pollution Control Board and the other an informal session of the City Council, brought about a possible solution and an understanding of the new sewer plant.

In the first session the Water Pollution Control Board adopted a resolution of approval for the City of Palm Springs to discharge reclaimed water in the Tahquitz storm channel.

G. G. BENNETT, of El Centro, chairman of the board, after hearing all the testimony on the quality of effluent to be discharged from the sewer plant, outlined the conditions, that must be met by the city and then the entire board passed the resolution unanimously.

Following the meeting of the control board, the City Council went into special session in the conference room of the city hall, and heard Marion Crist, special engineering consultant, explain the newly proposed plan for the sewer plant.

AND AFTER A two-hour session the members of the council (only one member was missing, Councilman Florian G. Boyd) tentatively agreed on the following steps:

- (1) To build a full treatment plant and disregard any consideration of a primary plant on any site.
- (2) To move the plant site itself from its present location, south to the farthest corner of the city-owned 40 acres.
- (3) To temporarily use approximately five acres for absorption beds until right-of-way through the channel are approved.

- (4) TO USE AS MUCH of the reclaimed water for irrigation on the park and nursery as possible.
- (5) To do away with any use of a storage lake on the property.
- (6) To use more land as a park and nursery to act as a buffer strip between the residential district and the plant itself.
- (7) To have complete landscaping of the plant site.

THE COMPLETE treatment plant will handle a capacity of 2,500 gallons of sewerage a day, and the discharge or reclaimed water will meet the standards imposed on water to be processed for domestic use.

Crist, who has been more than 30 years in the engineering of waste disposal plants throughout the country, said yesterday that he would gamble his job and future on the fact that there would be no odor from effluent or the absorption beds in the full treatment plant.

THE ENGINEER told the council that their previous proposal to have a "hour-glass" lake was a beautiful, but useless idea. He pointed out that to build a lake to use, as a source of extra water supply was unnecessary, because what was not used directly from the plant discharge for irrigation, could be turned into the flood channel.

The council still has hopes of contracting with someone for the use of the reclaimed water.

IN THE NEW plant itself, the building will include an administration office and laboratory, a bar-screen, a primary clarifier which will be exposed only eight inches above the ground surface; two filters, five to six feet above the ground; a pumping station in the center of the site; a second clarifier; a second pumping station that will be used to pump all the effluent or reclaimed water; and finally a digester.

The plant will be built on approximately 10 acres of land, with another five acres to be used temporarily for the absorption beds.

THE BUFFER STRIP will be used for a neighborhood park and city nursery, and will be located on some 20 acres of the site.

Villagers Asked to Limit Use of Manure For Lawns

Councilwoman Ruth Hardy this week asked the people of Palm Springs for help in keeping the use of manure as fertilizer out of the city this year.

Her suggestion brought about the passage of a resolution by the council directed at the residents of the city, and asked further for the cooperation of local nursery men in recommending other than manure to home owners for the growing of their lawns.

THIS TIME OF year, many winter residents return to Palm Springs and start putting in their lawns. Local golf courses and public grounds also start sowing their grass seed, and tons of manure are spread throughout the city.

Mrs. Hardy said that this type of fertilizing draws flies and has a bad odor "which we must get rid of."

THE COUNCIL heard last year from City Attorney Jerry Bunker that they cannot legislate against the use of fertilizer because it harnesses free trade, but the council is recommending the use of ground-up peat moss, pumice, cotton seed mash, or even the deodorized steer manure.

Petition Filed To Block Trial Of Mayor Tallent

Attorney Merrill Brown, representing Mayor L. Dee Tallent of Cabazon and Mrs. Virginia Breitweg, yesterday filed for a writ of prohibition in Superior Court in India to block prosecution of the couple in justice court here on charges of violating the county's rooming house ordinance.

Brown maintains that the ordinance is unconstitutional. Judge Hilton McCabe issued an order to Justice Court to show cause at a hearing at 2 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 17, why the writ should not be issued.

Payroll Checks Warning Issued

It's payroll day in Palm Springs and Village merchants were today warned to watch for bogus drafts made out on check blanks stolen from a Coachella Valley firm.

Detective T. M. Aitken said that a sheaf of blank payroll checks was stolen this week from the Massey Rock and Sand Company's India office. Aitken said the checks are pink and numbered consecutively from 2257 to 2325. They also carry the name of the Massey Rock and Sand Company and are drawn on the India branch of Security-First National Bank.

In France

Churchill, Wife Mark 50 Years

CAP D'AIL, France — UPI — Sir Winston Churchill and the gallant lady who has stood by his side for 50 years of blood, sweat and tears today celebrated the golden anniversary of a wedding of which Churchill once said: "I was married and lived happily ever after."

Gifts and messages congratulating Churchill and his wife, Clementine, on the anniversary poured in from friends all over the world, including President Eisenhower.

THE 83 YEAR-OLD "man of the century" celebrated the day in this Riviera town, three miles west of Monte Carlo, on the advice of doctors who feared his delicate health could not stand the rigors of English weather. The celebration was a quiet family party. The only guests were Lord Beaverbrook, the famed publisher who owns the villa where the Churchills have been staying here, their 47-year-old son, Randolph, and an 8-year-old granddaughter, Arabella.

THE DOCTORS relaxed the strict regime Churchill has followed since an attack of pneumonia last year to allow him Bordeaux wine and dry champagne with lunch, and a cigar and a small glass of cognac afterward.

On an ordinary day, the famed statesman is allowed three of the cigars which have become a trademark, but he may take only a few puffs on each.

Adult Evening Classes Planned To Start Sept. 29

Adult students of the Palm Springs Unified School District will soon follow the youngsters back to school.

Schools Supt. Dwight Twist said the fall semester of the adult evening classes will open at the high school during the week of Sept. 29 to Oct. 3.

EVENING SCHOOL Principal, George Mannington, today advised adult students that enrollment in the program will take place during the first week in each classroom.

It is not necessary to register for classes in advance, he said. Further information may be obtained by calling Mannington at FA 4-1235 in the evening.

Ike's Talk Praised, Criticized By Congressional Leaders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders today both praised and criticized President Eisenhower for his nationwide speech promising no "Western Pacific Munich" in Formosa Strait.

They called it "effective, simple and direct" and "laying the facts on the line." On the other hand, they said the speech failed to answer "a number of questions."

THE PRESIDENT told a nationwide TV-radio audience Thursday night the United States shall "never timidly retreat before the threat of armed aggression" in Formosa Strait.

At the same time, the President held out hope to the world in his 21-minute address from the White House "that diplomacy can and should find a way out" of the crisis over the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

BUT HE SAID a "Western Pacific Munich would not buy us peace or security" — more likely it would lead to a "major war."

The speech was regarded at the White House and State Department as a tough restatement of U. S. Far East policy.

Urgency of the speech was underlined by the fact the President returned here from his Newport, R. I., vacation spot to deliver the report. He planned to fly back to Newport this morning.

There are measures that can be taken to assure that these offshore islands will not be a thorn in the side of peace," he said.

"We believe that arrangements are urgently required to stop gun fire and to pave the way to a peaceful solution. He did not elaborate. But reports have ranged from possibility of eventual evacuation and abandonment of the offshore islands to a proposal for demilitarization of Quemoy and the neighboring mainland coast.

THE PRESIDENT said "it is as certain as can be that the shooting which the Chinese Communists started on August 23rd (shelling of Quemoy) had as its purpose not just the taking of the island of Quemoy. It is part of what is indeed an ambitious plan of armed conquest."

"This plan would liquidate all of the free world positions in the Western Pacific area and bring them under captive governments which would be hostile to the United States and the free world. Thus, the Chinese and Russian Communists would come to dominate at least the western half of the now friendly Pacific Ocean."

The President's address all but closed the door on the thought this country would permit the tiny offshore islands to fall into Communist hands by force without the United States intervening.

COMPLETE SCHOOL BUS SCHEDULES TO BE IN DESERT SUN

Complete schedules for Palm Springs School District buses will be presented in the pages of Saturday's Desert Sun.

School district officials urged parents to study the new bus routes, arrival and departure times, which take effect with the opening of schools Monday, so that buses may be met on time by school-faring youngsters.

Higher Gas Taxes

Federal Deficit To Be $12 Billion

WASHINGTON — UPI — President Eisenhower's budget director, admitting to a "sense of discouragement," Thursday night revealed the Treasury expects to wind up more than 12 billion dollars in the red this fiscal year.

Budget Chief Maurice H. Stans also indicated the administration may seek higher federal gasoline taxes and another round of postal rate increases next year to avoid adding to the record peacetime deficit.

STANS SAID THE deficit would be $12,200,000,000 for the fiscal year which began last July 1 and ends next June 30.

He told his news conference Thursday the President and his advisers must decide within 60 days about raising federal gasoline taxes by close to one billion dollars next year because the federal highway trust fund used to finance interstate highways will be exhausted next fiscal year.

STANS DECLINED to forecast Eisenhower's ultimate decision. But he made clear he personally was shooting for a return to a balanced budget in fiscal 1961 and would prefer hiking the "user" type tax on gasoline to bigger red ink spending.

Congress recently added one cent to the cost of first class and air mail, but Stans estimated the Post Office Department will have a deficit of 735 million dollars this year, partly because of new postal pay increases.

HE SAID THAT if the administration took a "consistent" position, the White House would ask Congress for another postal rate increase next session. Stans' review estimated the government would take in $67,000,000,000 and spend $79,200,000,000 in the 12 months ending next June 30, leaving a deficit of $12,200,000,000. This would push the public debt to $283,000,000,000.

SAFeway's NEW FACE shows the results of a major renovation program that has almost transformed the Village supermarket into a new building. Exterior facelift features involve six huge new windows, new paint and a new "desert" roof, designed to reflect heat and facilitate store cooling, according to Safeway manager Joe Butler. Inside, the renovation project reached into all corners of the store. New lighting, frozen foods freezers, delicatessen counters, installation of an inter-communication system connecting all departments, a shoppers' directory, listing the whereabouts of all store items, and new paint throughout round out the interior renovation project. Punch was served with the cake to Mrs. Dorothy Pelham, Tricie

Jarrette, Dorothy Richey, Evelyn Williams, Jean Rodman, Ruby Jones, Miriam Betts, Peggy Deason, Cora Jackson, Jo Lake, Mickie Veitch, Veta Arnold, Betty Albright, Pearl Palmer, Clara Cutts, Edith McKenzie and Irene DaVall. Game prizes were won by Dorothy Pelham and Dorothy Richey.

Leaving San Jose she visited at the Rolling Hills home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bolten and daughter, Margot Rae, and accompanied them on their cabin cruiser for two days at Catalina. The Bolten's drove Miss Pease to her Cathedral City home, where they spent last weekend as her guests.

Mrs. Bessie Kelley, who left early in the summer for the East, returned last week to her Kelley Cottage for another season. Mrs. Kelley went by plane to Philadelphia to visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Doyle and children, Janet and Billy. She enjoyed a trip with them to Williamsburg and Jamestown, W. Va., visiting at Annapolis on the return trip.

They went on a camping trip for two weeks at Chenango State Park in New York, and Mrs. Doyle and the children accompanied Mrs. Kelley to Lockport, N. Y., to spend a few weeks with her 93-year-old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Goodenough.

Council Seeks Continuance of County Sales Tax

Palm Springs City Council this week passed a resolution directed to the League of Riverside County Cities and the County Board of Supervisors, asking that the Bradley-Burns Sales Tax Agreement be retained in this county.

The resolution says that Palm Springs will cooperate with the league to keep the Sales Tax Act in use in Riverside County.

Action on the resolution followed a meeting in Palm Springs last week between this city and the City of Corona, at which time Corona councilmen said that they "were not trying to force Palm Springs to pay a percentage to the county," but wanted Palm Springs help in backing their move to be omitted from contributing.

The motion to approve the resolution was made by Councilman Ted McKinney, seconded by Leonard Wolf, and was passed by a unanimous vote.

The smallest political body in the world is Vatican City with 890 inhabitants.

Ford Prepares Offer on One Union Demand

DETROIT — UAW — Ford Motor Co., threatened with a nationwide strike, is preparing an offer on one of the United Auto Workers' four major contract demands, an authoritative source said today.

The source said Ford was preparing the offer only as an opening gambit to start the talks moving.

FORD AND THE union began intensive, top-level talks on a new contract Thursday after the UAW named it as the target of a strike which will begin next Wednesday if an agreement isn't reached by then.

A strike at Ford could halt production of 1959 model cars by all the "big three" companies, who have been operating without union contracts since the end of May when the old contracts expired. There was a possibility General Motors and Chrysler might shut down their operations if Ford were struck.

THE COMPANIES hoped to prevent the UAW from using its famed "whipsaw" technique on them this year, and considering a strike against one as a strike against all could be an answer.

The "whipsaw" technique, a method of getting an agreement from one company and then using it as a lever to get a better contract from another company, was used in contract talks in 1953 and 1955 with Ford as the primary target in both cases.

Friends of the British-born author said he apparently died of a heart condition in his villa "Corps de Garde" in this little North Breton resort. He had been suffering from a weak heart for more than two years.

He was transferred to White Horse in the Yukon and then to Dawson. During his eight years in the Yukon he traveled widely and began writing verse to describe life in the north.

His major works were "Songs of a Sourdough" which he wrote in 1907 and "Ballads of a Cheechako." In 1910 he wrote a novel, "The Trail of '96" which gave a vivid description of men and conditions in the Klondike.

Sky Valley Area To Have Mail Delivery Service

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Postmaster C. W. Hatheway today announced the start of mail delivery service on a new Star Route for residents on and near Dillon Road, east of Desert Hot Springs, in the Sky Valley area.

Hatheway said the Star Route covers an area stretching about 15 miles, from the post office to its eastern limits.

GEORGE OSWALD, of Cathedral City, was named as Star Route carrier. Oswald now serves the Indio-DHS Star Route.

Star Route service requires use of rural-type mail boxes by area residents. Hatheway asked that the boxes be placed on the south side of Dillon Road to facilitate delivery.

HE ALSO SUGGESTED that boxes be grouped at intersections "as much as possible."

Boxes should stand from 42 to 48 inches above the ground, placed so they may be reached by the carrier from his truck.

Residents wishing Star Route service were asked to file a change of address at the post office.

TEACHING JOHNNY TO SWIM SERIES FIVE

This is the first step for Johnny to learn to dive. Have him sit on the pool deck with his feet on the overflow trough, above six-foot-deep water. From this position he bends forward, knees apart and arms extended, hands together. When he loses his balance, he should push with his feet and slide into the water. Turning his fingers up and looking up will help him come to the surface. In teaching Johnny to dive, there must be someone close by to help him if he gets in trouble.

Now he can try a dive kneeling on one knee, as in this illustration. He extends his arms, bends forward from the waist, and slides into the water. Tell him to keep his chin down on his chest as he goes into the water, and lift his chin when he wants to come to the surface.

At eight-foot-deep water, for the final stage in learning to dive, Johnny stands with his feet together, toes hooking the edge of the deck, and arms extended overhead. From this position he bends from the waist and leans forward until his balance is lost. Then he pushes hard from the deck and keeping his chin down, goes into the water, arms and head first.

Safety Urged By CHP With Start of School

"Watch out for children who may not be watching out for you," the California Highway Patrol reminded motorists today, urging that all drivers review traffic laws relating to the safety of school children.

"Youngsters throughout the State are returning to school after a carefree summer," stated Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "With them will be many children starting off to school for the first time."

"The little ones are unpredictable and may dash across the street or from behind a parked car at any time," he reminded. "Each driver must exercise extreme caution and obey all traffic laws to avoid striking an unsuspecting child who may not be watching traffic."

"A concentration of bicycle riders will also be found near schools," he added, "making special alertness on the part of every motorist absolutely necessary."

Caldwell also cautioned parents to review the rules for safe walking and bicycle riding with their children and urged that mother or dad help plan the safest route to school for those starting for the first time.

Sheldon G. Bernstein today ended his one-week residence in Palm Springs in the hands of Los Angeles police, following his arrest here on four counts of forgery.

Bernstein, 27-year-old pool attendant at a Village hotel, was taken to Los Angeles to face charges that he obtained auto tires through forged signatures on gasoline credit cards.

He was arrested by Palm Springs Detectives Richard Harries and John Herrera at a local hotel yesterday. The officers were alerted by a "wanted" circular issued by the Los Angeles Police Department.

Bernstein arrived here from Los Angeles last week.

The Desert Sun is an independent newspaper dedicated to truth, accuracy and impartiality in the news; to the progress of the desert region; to the support of that which it believes to be right and to the defeat of that which it believes wrong.

The Personality Boys

BOSTON, MASS. — Turn loose a covey of hucksters with a standard line of merchandise — and the contest soon becomes a matter of salesmanship rather than of quality in the goods.

This is the political situation as seen by a traveler across the Northeastern tier of American states. Each candidate is an individual and entitled to respect. The States of New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine are all separate communities, each with almost as much individuality as the candidates.

BUT THE MERCHANDISE of mid-century American politics is as dreary as the sameness of a Detroit assembly line, as ersatz as an imitation antique from Grand Rapids. Our machine age efficiency and our vaunted salesmanship have played us false in the realm of self-government.

In New York State, both the gubernatorial candidates are desperately trying to turn their heads into homespun. Governor Harriman is doing so with one eye on the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. There is a current anecdote, apocryphal but not insignificant, that the sight of a newspaperman will send the Governor sprinting up a flight of steps to prove himself much younger than his years.

THERE IS ANOTHER story, this one vouched for by auditors, about Nelson Rockefeller, the GOP candidate. It seems a lady Republican told Rockefeller that she had driven past his country estate and admired its elegance from afar.

"Never call yourself a friend of mine," said the aspirant as quick as a Fuller Brush man, "if you pass by my door again. Come on in."

On-the-scene newspaper colleagues tell me that Rockefeller ad libs like a veteran and that he began closing ground on Harriman even before the Republican Convention picked its ticket. The Syracuse Post-Standard laid out an Upstate pre-convention poll and found Rockefeller leading the field by a ratio of more than 2 to 1.

THE ILLITERACY of many respondents, as well as their post offices, assured the poll takers that Rockefeller has something which goes for the common touch. But the word is that Thomas Dewey wrote the candidate's acceptance speech, is pulling the strings, and that the "Rock" would roll better under its own momentum.

In Massachusetts, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Attorney General Fung, died suddenly. In hustling up a substitute, the GOP chose their party's floor leader in the legislature, a Kentucky-born, Taft-Winger and a Protestant with the Irish Catholic name of Gibbons which won't hurt him in Boston.

THE INFORMED opinion gives Gibbons an outside chance to capitalize on some alleged irregularities in Governor Fung's Administration. One political savant likens the possibilities to Christian Herter's victory over the Dever's Democratic regime in 1954. But this is admittedly a stretched analogy. The Senate race in Massachusetts is conceded to the talented Prince Charming, Jack Kennedy.

In Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire, as the traveler hears, the same cult of personality is putting all issues in the shade. The Maine Senate race between young Governor Muskie and aging Senator Payne means that one of two good men will be beaten and that we will get a line on the strength of the Democratic trend.

IN VERMONT the Democrats appear to have a better ticket than the Republicans. Vermont seems likely to send a Democrat to Washington to replace Republican Senator Flanders. The situation is reversed in New Hampshire, where the Republicans are thought to have the horses to win the State offices.

But the issues in all places are much the kind you would get from opening a can of beans. The difference between the programs of Harriman and Rockefeller are the differences between Gimbel's and Macy's — window-dressing and sales-pitch. Kennedy is advertised as the man who serves ALL Massachusetts. This is true. It is also indicative of man-over-issues. We are in the Era of Lost Ideas. —Holmes Alexander

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: How can I explain to my 11-year-old daughter who is old enough to read your column that an unmarried girl is going to have a baby by a married man? She sometimes gets the paper before I can hide it from her and starts asking me these questions, and I don't know how to answer her.

PUZZLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You can't hide the facts of life from your daughter, so there is no sense in hiding the paper. The sooner a girl learns that it is possible to have a baby under these circumstances, the better it is for the girl.

DEAR ABBY: I took up sewing as a hobby and became very good at it. I make all my own clothes, coats and even my husband's shirts, and they look better than store bought. My problem is as soon as my friends find out I can sew they bring me all their alterations work. I put up twelve hems yesterday and a friend of mine had the nerve to bring me her husband's trousers to shorten. I have no children, but I do have housework which never gets done because of the sewing my friends bring me. My husband threatens to break my sewing machine up if I don't quit it. But how can I refuse and keep their friendship?

UNPAID SEAMSTRESS
DEAR UNPAID: Clear out your workroom and tell your friends (these are friends?) you are ALL SEWED UP! If you lose their friendship because you don't take in their sewing—don't let them give you the needle.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man but my mother thinks I can do better because I am considered very pretty. He is a nice person, is well liked and a steady worker. My mother says he has a large nose and is losing his hair. She says he should either get a hairpiece or get his nose fixed because in a few years when all his hair is gone he will really look terrible. I can't mention this to him, can I? He is 24 and I am 21 and he wants me to marry him. Please tell me what to do. IN LOVE

DEAR IN: If you love this man and are satisfied with his looks, go ahead and marry him. Hair pieces and nose-jobs are for those who want them.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of boys who drive over to your house and sit out in front of the house in the car and honk? How can I get them to stop this?

HONKED AT
DEAR HONKED: Honking is for the birds... (geese, that is!)... Tell them to come to the door and ring the bell like gentlemen—or fly in the other direction.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is in her foolish fifties. She weighs 170 pounds, wears her hair in shoulder-length curls, slim jeans, and open-toed sandals. She is a grandmother and ought to know better. When we go marketing together she flirts with all the young boys in the supermarket and they laugh at her but she thinks they are laughing WITH her. How can I make her grow up and act her age?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: If this woman is a friend of yours, do her a favor and have a heart-to-heart talk with her about her behavior and get-ups.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 15, but am very mature for my age. I go with a boy who is 21. My mother doesn't care for him because he doesn't like to dress up. He wears jeans and doesn't even own a pair of dress pants. When I date him I have to lie about who I am going with, and he sends somebody else to the door to get me. I don't like sneaking around, but there is no other way to get to see him. Can you help us solve our problem? He is a very nice boy.

P AND H
DEAR P AND H: A "very nice boy" doesn't send somebody else to the door to pick up his girl. If you don't know better at 15—He should know better at 21. He's not as nice as you think he is.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my late thirties and for the last three years have been keeping company with a stubborn bachelor of 60 who has quite a bit of money. The mutual friend who introduced us said if I played my cards right I could have him, but I don't know what I am doing wrong. He buys me Sunday supper and takes me to a show, but I am not any closer to marriage now than I was three years ago. Should I look for a man closer to my age even if he has less money? I wouldn't have wasted time on this one if he was poor. DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Three years is long enough. Keep your eyes open for somebody else — and you'd be wiser to count his YEARS—not his money.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man who is not married. Our office has a bowling team and I am on it. One of the men on the team is married and asks everyone on our team to say he is single when we go to bowl. He has got a couple of girls in love with him and he is still looking around. Should I continue to lie for him, tell the girls the truth or what? I feel like a rat and it is affecting my average.

BOWLER
DEAR BOWLER: Tell your buddy that bearing false witness is not up your alley. Recommend that he lay it on the line without curves, or do it for him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother (I refuse to call her my "mother-in-law") had an anniversary party for my husband and me to celebrate our tenth anniversary. She left out my own mother and father. I could not believe she was so ignorant and kept expecting her to call my mother at the last minute.

but she never did. You can imagine how I felt the whole evening. Now I can't even look her in the face because I am afraid I might say something terrible to her. My mother says skip it. What would you have done?

VERY HURT
DEAR VERY: I would have asked my husband to call his mother and request that her parents be invited to this party. No point in crying over spilt milk. It's sour anyway.

DEAR ABBY: Since I had my tonsils out when I was four I have had my heart set on marrying a doctor. I thought of being a nurse but that's out because I can't stand the sight of blood. Have you any suggestions?

MARCIA
DEAR MARCIA: If you can stand the sight of punching a time clock, how about being a doctor's receptionist?

DEAR ABBY: We have a relative who refuses to work for less than $2.80 an hour. Consequently, he is out of work about half the time, and he expects us to give him handouts. I believe in helping kin-folks if things get rough, but wouldn't you think he would try to help himself? My wife thinks I am hard-hearted. Please tell her I'm not.

RALPH
DEAR RALPH: You do your relative no favor when you support him when he should be supporting himself. Soon as you stop the handouts, he will take the best job he can get—but not until.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help us settle an argument? Would you call playing a slot machine "gambling"?

S.G. AND F.J.
DEAR ONES: I would say it's more like a "contribution." ...

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TWEENTY": If he were poor, would you still love him? Let this 49'er go — unless you aim to start the gold rush all over again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR AT THE ADVERTISING AGENCY: Your "ex" wants to try again. Aren't you getting the message?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONVINCED": Your fortune-telling friend may have guessed right but she is getting her information from left field. If anyone had the power to predict the future, we could have avoided the Chicago fire, the sinking of the Andrea Doria and Pearl Harbor, to name only a few catastrophes. Use your noggin!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your booksdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Oh, the Life of Riley
Was never like this,
Full of good food,
Contentment and bliss.

ALAMOGORDO, N. M.,
Thursday, 9-11

If I could carry a note I'd be singing a song, just rolling along. But I can't so will let the car wheels do it.

CHOOSE THIS SPOT for today's deadline as it is the most useful of a number of towns with rhythmic names passed through today with more to come.

Had to pick between Huachuca, Hachita, Chiricahua and Alamogordo or wait until I got to Carizozo, all good names.

The first three I abandoned because (a) someone might say "gesundheit," (b) too early in the morning and (c) the first, my favorite, was on a branch line.

AFTER EXHAUSTING my vocal cords extolling the beauties of our desert yesterday to any who would listen, got off at Yuma only to exercise them again saying "no" to the numerous souvenir sellers on the platform.

Started to charge my watch as Yuma is on mountain time but the man standing there said don't. There's no daylight saving time here, he assured me, and your California time is the same as ours now.

I was ashamed to tell him I had to change it anyway, because I had been on standard time all summer.

WANDERED BACK to the club car where, incidentally, I had met an old friend of mine the night before.

The gentleman in charge of the car who was glad to see me, so he said, and was very solicitous to see that I was well taken care of and happy.

Tried to get the weather report on the car radio to see what it had been like in Palm Springs, but they passed us up.

SO STAYED UP until we got to Phoenix to sample the weather there to see if it was like ours. It wasn't.

Last time I was in Phoenix on the State, it was raining and the puffing man who got on the train said it was 102. That was at about 10 p.m.

But that was in June. It wasn't bad this time.

UP AT DAWN to do a little work, then breakfast as we rolled into El Paso.

Had expected, being in Texas, to get some Texas-size eggs but I guess the admission of Alaska disheartened the hens, too.

Besides it was just a little corner of Texas and now we are booming mostly northward, slightly east, through New Mexico.

I'LL BE BACK in Texas again this afternoon, snipping off another little corner of it then a slice of Oklahoma and into Kansas.

Train travel is still tight but a little heavier than the last time. People like me who want to take it easy and see the countryside at first hand such as the long look at White Sands now in the distance to the left.

And Sunday I start getting mauled by four grandchildren.

"If you wander down the town a bit someone'll be telling you a story," said Eddie. "For they grow weary of telling the same ones to each other."

I am advised to cultivate Eddie. He is the genial night porter of the Old Ground Hotel in Ennis, County Clare, Ireland. "Him that'll bring you a cold lager if you wake in the night wit' a tirst."

Dromcliffe.

"BEGGIN' YER PARDON, Father," said I to him. "Mickey rest his soul, lies in the Abbey grounds. I've made a research of the facts," he says. "And I'm convinced he lies at Dromcliffe, verily," said the Irishman. "Do you see he stone window in the wall? And the cross in front? That's where Mickey lies buried."

"HOW DID YOU find this out?" I said. "Is his name written on the stone?"

"They buried them all in here. Some of the fine boys would climb into the tower and give the bell a pull for the departed soul."

"But that's not the point of it all," he said. "For I well remember when they were diggin' away the ruins in the very same spot below the cross."

"NOT A BONE did they find," he said letting his voice drop to a dramatic whisper. "But below the cross with the Considine name they found the skull."

"The skull?"

"The skull, indeed," he said. "The emblem of death itself pointing out that it was Mickey's cold grave. It was Mickey's skull surely."

"And that settled the controversy?"

"A WEEK LATER," he said, ignoring the question, "the Father came to me. His hat in his hand. 'I've done more research in a scholarly fashion,' he says to me, 'and yer right. 'Tis in the Abbey that Mickey lies buried.'"

"With his hat in his hand," says the Irishman, "he came to present his apologies. And that ended the terrible controversy."

"How many were in the terrible controversy?" I said. "Was the town divided?"

"Ah, now," he said, "there was only the Father and me. But it was terrible while it lasted."

NEW YORK — "Twenty-One" quizmaster Jack Barry, on the show's integrity:

"At no time has any contestant ever been given advance information about any question used on this show."

EARL WILSON:

So Let's Grant Statehood

ATLANTIC CITY — Many New Yorkers think of New Jersey—when they think of it—as being somewhere in outer space.

But lately I've fallen passionately in love with Hobokous, Hoboken, Weehawken, Secaucus, Cheesequake, Double Trouble Alamyuchy, Bivalve, Apple Pie Hill, Bargaintown, Timbuctoo, Change-water, Penny Pot, Tranquility, New Russia and Squankum—to list some favorite Jersey towns.

I doubt that Ohio, Florida, Texas or even California could come up with such wondrous names.

To savor them properly, I might settle down some day on a New Jersey farm—in case anybody has a farm for sale, say, on one of the top floors of the Hotel Traymore, overlooking the boardwalk and the ocean. (All real estate dealers have farms there, please send literature.)

Three recent trips here have given me new appreciation of this beautiful city.

And I'm surprised at how many girls the "Miss America" pageant has started on careers. Kathleen Crowley... now doing well in Hollywood and on TV is the one they're talking about now.

She was just a little country girl who got some training from a minister's wife and won "Miss New Jersey of 1949."

In the big pageant she came out No. 7, but on her scholarship went to the American Academy of Dramatic Art in N.Y. She was frequently hungry and lacking carfare around N.Y. — so she walked.

Now she owns one of the prettiest homes in Hollywood: Formerly the property of Hopalong Cassidy.

The new "Miss America," Mary Ann Mobley from Brandon, Miss., stands to make about $75,000 this year out of this and that.

Of course New Jersey's accustomed to big names.

Doris Duke, John Jacob Astor, Ralph Bellamy, Sterling Hayden, James Gould Cozzens, Dorothy Kirsten, Jerry Lewis, Jane Wyatt, Ernie Kovacs, Vivian Blaine, Sarah Vaughn, Elaine Stewart, Candy Jones, Mel Ferrer, Thomas Mitchell, Dennis James, Buddy Hackett, Phil Foster, Jerome Robbins, John Perona, Danny Dayton, Yogi Berra and Count Basie are among the Jerseyites—and of course, there was a lad named Frank Sinatra.

It was on a cliff at Weehawken that Alexander Hamilton was mortally wounded by Vice President Aaron Burr in a duel with pistols July 11, 1804.

You can stand on that cliff now and look across the Hudson down onto 42d St., New York. With binoculars you can almost see the Flea Circus. Outer space, indeed. Why, it's closer than the Bronx, Brooklyn or upper Manhattan where I live. New Jersey is closer than a rich relative.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.: Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor watched the Blue Angel show: Photographers were waiting for them, but they left separately... Steve Lawrence took his GI physical exam... Rocky Marciano starts broadcasting the fights from a N.Y. arena Sept. 29. (He bought Mrs. M a 13-carat ring as a birthday gift and confided, "I'll have to work for three years to pay for that!")... Monte Proser gives up the Las Vegas Tropicana producership in a few months.

Comic Mitch de Wood (of Allen and De Wood) underwent surgery... TV actress Patricia Barry (Phil Jr.'s wife) broke her tailbone in a fall on a rug at Sanford Meisner's... Sammy Davis Jr.'s entire salary for his Raleigh Hotel stint went to AGVA and the NAACP... When "Houseboat" (with Sophia Loren and Cary Grant) plays in Italy it'll be called "My Mother's Gondola."

I've been an Ann Blyth buff, by the by, ever since I caught her act in Las Vegas three years ago after this dollgirl's Grove gig I'd like to be her fan club presy. Yes, indeedly, I do admire Annie's pipes and showmanship beyond measure, particularly when she aims her parody of that old ballad, "Jim," at her ringsiding husband, Dr. Jim McNulty, and sings: "Jim always leaves the... without permission — Jim always does cuz he's an obstetrician."

Dinah Shore couldn't think of a name for the sextet of singers that backs up her new act at the Flamingo in Las Vegas until she visited the dice tables at the spot and heard the customers hollering at the galloping dominos. The Shore sextet is now billed as "Six the Hard Way."

THERE WILL BE no overseas Christmas trip to entertain the Armed Forces this year for Bob Hope — for the first time in five years. He'll be busy shooting "Alias Jesse James" for United Artists. So I'll be home for the first time in five years too, and maybe this time I'll get my Christmas cards out on time for a change.

Dana Wynter will play the girl friend of ill-fated F. Scott Fitzgerald in Fox's biopic about the Daddy of the Flapper "Beloved Infidel"... Dean Martin, despite what's been printed elsewhere, is No. One for the lad who's always on the other end of Judy Holliday's line in the MGM version of Broadway's "Bells Are Ringing."

THE BRA-OR-NOT to - bra confusion at one Las Vegas resort — despite church and civic demands that the girls be fully clothed — that the chorines don't know which end of the cup is up from one show to the next! Sometimes they come out barefoot — the waist — up, sometimes they're covered — all depending on a signal from the stage manager.

His job is to peek out through the curtains and "case" the audience before each show. If he decides they're "squares" the girls cover up; if he decides they're "swingers" the girls bust loose!

Friend of mine returned from a short out-of-town trip flat broke. His wife asked him where all his money went. Said he, "Honey, I haven't the Vegas idea"...

First School Days Made Easy---That's What It Says

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK — (UPI) — The clanging of a school bell can strike pain or pleasure in the hearts of youngsters joining the classroom set for the first time.
But it's up to that mistress of all trades, Mom, to orient Junior or Janie for a "happy" break from the sand-box.
Dr. Virginia Pomeranz, instructor in pediatrics at the Cornell University Medical Center, says it's natural for some tiny tots to quiver lips and maybe even to cry at the thought of nursery school, kindergarten or first grade separating them from their parents for the first time.
Dr. Pomeranz says visit school a couple times before classes actually convene. Let your child get the feel of the place and, perhaps, there will be a chance to meet the teacher ahead of time. This is a sure vaccine against "school phobia."
When talking to your youngster about school, be casual. Explain that it's an exciting experience and — most of the time — quite pleasant. Don't be unrealistic, however.

Never leave the impression that school is like playtime. Here's where it takes tact on Mom's part, says the pediatrician, painting a picture that smacks of burdensome chores.
Avoid being too specific about what will happen inside the classroom the first day or, for that matter, during the first year. Dr. Pomeranz says many parents make the mistake of building the children up for classroom experiences akin to their own of many years ago. She said:
"Times have changed. Counting and the ABC's are not on the first day agenda in many schools any more. The less speculation about when the child will learn what the better."
Psychologically, do your child justice by learning ahead of time how the children in his or her school dress. If the boys wear dungarees, don't send your son off in a grey-flannel suit. It will make him uncomfortable.
Little girls shouldn't be dressed in frilly or party dresses, for that historic first day, no matter how happy the occasion in Mom's eye.
Shirley Camper, family life consultant of the Family Service Association of America says this gives children a "party complex" about school.
Mrs. Camper says many youngsters can fight off the tears if given a "happiness and security" object to take along the first day. It should remind them of home and mother or father.
She suggested a bracelet or pin that belongs to mother. For little boys, daddy's tie-pin. But no teddy bears or pacifiers, please.
If your "baby" must walk to school, make a few trial runs to give the child some idea of how close the school is to home and vice versa.
If the tie from home is to be broken at a school bus stop, teach your child the way and explain that there will be other children "commuting" too.
If you drive the child to school and expect to make a pick-up at night, say exactly where you'll be waiting, to prevent his worrying through the day.
When a child whips up a storm at the classroom door, don't sneak away. Stay awhile, if the school permits. Most schools do. When you get a chance to leave quietly, say you'll be back a little later.

School District Personnel at Banning Meeting

Palm Springs Unified School District was well represented at the Banning High School when the first Riverside County Workshop was held for The Riverside County Association of Educational Office Employees and their administrators.
The very enjoyable and instructive afternoon and evening program arranged by Mrs. Anne Walters, president of the organization, and Mrs. Carolyn Clark, office manager, County Superintendent of Schools Offices, included the showing of "By Jupiter," a thought-provoking film on human relations, followed by two interesting and stimulating speakers, Mrs. Margaret Collins, Merchandising Coordinator of San Diego Jr. College and Vocational Schools, and Mrs. Edna Lockhart, Director, Attendance and Child Welfare, Riverside City Schools. This semester course, "Inter - Personal Relationship in Public Education," is being held at the Riverside City College, with Mr. Weisbrod instructing.
Being the first group to be served in the modern new cafeteria recently completed at the Banning High School added further distinction to the affair.
Those attending from Palm Springs schools were educational office employees: Margaret Swank, Shirley Simmons, Dorothy Matthews, Peggy McClements, Ruby Chapin, Gertrude Carpenter, Phyllis King, Dorothy Hugo, Edith Layton, Fern Hartley, Evelyn Petersen, Marion Potts, Bonnie Gary, Joan Smith, Dorothy Rich, Ferol McQuown and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Micelli. The Desert Sun Friday, Sept. 12, 1958 5
This was the summer that brought television into my life . . . and discovering so many people I know on the programs . . . was probably the deciding factor . . . It added interest to the telecast interview with Governor Faubus . . . that Dan Schorr who headed the panel . . . was here last winter . . . and we had lunch with him at the Racquet Club . . . It was exciting to discover Walter Freund on the Bid and Buy program . . . winning a fabulous prize . . . and, of course, there are so many of our celebrity Villagers on TV . . . Those 10 best "I Love Lucy" shows were hilarious . . . and I hope never to forget Lucy stomping the wine out of the grapes . . . She's a carrot-topped genius . . .

And now that I'm a convert to TV . . . this winter when the Harry Von Zells show up at Thunderbird . . . I can (for the first time) look Harry in the eye and say "I don't know what George would do without you!"
I always feel like I'm seeing an old friend when Walt Disney flashes on the screen . . . and it was interesting to see Governor Knight doing the hula at that Press Club shindig at Newport Dunes . . . which I didn't attend . . . because I just didn't go to parties in the summertime . . . Jimmy Van Heusen has been away much too long . . . so it will be fun to watch him on one of next week's big programs (Sullivan's I think) . . . I think programs like "Father Knows Best" and "Leave It to Beaver" help counteract juvenile delinquency . . . that Raymond Burr is great as Perry Mason . . . and Richard Greene is a wonderful Robin Hood . . . and it's even kind of fun to see ancient movies again . . . They were so often more exciting than the new ones . . .

Now, if we don't get too much editorializing on the television screen (I thought "Capital Punishment" would have done a more effective job by an objective portrayal) . . . maybe TV is here to stay . . .

Interesting newcomers to the Village . . . Col. and Mrs. Chester W. Cohagan . . . were standing in line in front of the Bank of America the other day . . . waiting to register for voting . . . He's retired from the Air Force . . . and she's the former Dorothy Preble who operated a model agency and school in Los Angeles for 15 years . . . with many big name students . . . The Cohagans bought a house at 429 Camino del Sur . . . and have been here all summer remodeling . . .

Muriel Fulton has been here all summer . . . busy as usual . . . but is now snatching a brief vacation . . . She's off this weekend . . . to spend a few days in La Jolla with her friends the Jim Abernathys . . .

Auntie Pearl McManus is another one who was here most of the summer . . . When she wasn't here . . . she was in Brentwood with Geri Frederickson . . .

Talked with Harold Murphy at Crystal Bay . . . and he said he and Florence would be coming home at month's end . . . They've been operating the North Shore Club at Tahoe this summer . . . and it's been a kind of headquarters for Villagers away from home . . .

Add returnees . . . Jimmy Morton . . . who, as usual, has been about 17 places this summer . . . It was a surprise to see him . . . as I had just received Marj Pohl's column (see last night's paper) telling about his hit-and-run visit to Hawaii . . .

New Apartments Near Completion

Construction of one of Palm Springs newest apartment hotels is nearing completion this week and is expected to be ready for occupancy this winter.

To be known as Riverside Manor Apartments, the new building is expected to be completed about Nov. 15, and is being constructed by Sally and Sigmund Ehrens.

Rising Prices Forecast for Next 15 Years

A prediction of rising prices for the next 10 to 15 years was made this week by one of the nation's top construction industry economists.

Dr. James M. Gillies, economic advisor to the Building Contractors Association of California and assistant dean of the School of Business Administration of the University of California at Los Angeles, declared that the recession of the last 12 months revealed economic factors on which he based his forecast. He termed it the "most unusual recession in history" in that it failed to halt the upward swing in costs in most areas of the economy.

Gillies pointed out that the inflationary trend lasting at least a decade would make property, common stocks and other assets which grow with the times generally more satisfactory investments than fixed money assets which constantly lose their value during inflation.

owners and operators of the Crest View Hotel.

LOCATED AT 750 North Riverside Drive, the $300,000 apartment hotel faces south toward a view of the mountains. It has a total of 22 rental units, each having a 13 by 17-foot living room, bath, kitchen, and bedroom, wall to wall carpeting, TV, garbage disposal, air conditioning, and is completely furnished.

Ehrens' partners in the building are Irv and Mildred Anidon of Cheviot Hills, Los Angeles.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE hotel was done by contractor Mike Ryan, and landscaping was by Tony Dalu. Mrs. Ehrens did the interior decorating.

The Russell Wade Real Estate offices will be exclusive agent for the hotel, and the property was purchased by Ehrens and Anidon through Lew Levy of that office.

Ehrens has been a resident of Palm Springs for the past two and a half years, and plans a building project every year.

Gardening... On the Desert

Continuing our dissertation on shrubs that are easy on the water bills let us consider the Shrub Aster (Friticoccus). From early April and through July this hardy plant produces a pretty lavender flower with a yellow center.

The sandy soil of our desert and full sunshine with a minimum of fertilizer is about all it asks for. Water is evidently a secondary thought. When this shrub has finished blooming it should be pruned so that it will not get straggly but remains a dense plant of about three feet spread and height.

THE SCARLET BOTTLE BRUSH is also a hardy plant, will withstand temperatures as low as 22 degrees, but don't look for a bloom in the winter months. The rest of the year its scarlet bloom is picturesque especially if it has been provided with ample sunshine. In addition to resisting temperatures that are low for the desert it is also drought resistant, adding to savings on the water bills.

As a member of the family of hardy shrubs the Flowering Quince—of which there are many varieties—more than hold its own. Temperatures to zero seem to have little effect on this robust plant, reflected summer heat from walls or fences seem to have little effect on its growth.

SOME OF THE species are recumbent and low, others bushy and tall. Dependent on variety, they are likely to produce a bright red, a white, or a delicate pink. It also deserves the credit of growing in any soil.

If you have a liking for a plenteous of berries for Christmas decorations the Grabers variety of Pyracantha should take a prominent part with its large, red berries. A Chinese Holly in your garden would also give you a variety of berries during Yule-tide. Growing as high as nine feet it acts as an excellent garden shrub and is much at home in the dry desert. Its lucent, spiny leaves will naturally vie with the green of the pyracantha leaves.

THE MEXICAN FIRE Plant is another hardy shrub and needs little care as to soil or irrigation. Actually it belongs to the poinsettia family but is not as tender and frail as its more replegent relations, neither does it grow to their height or produce as large and spectacular bloom.

It also differs in color of bloom, being a mottled mixture of red, white, and green. While the average desert-grown poinsettia requires some shade from the intense heat of the summer sun the Mexican Fire Plant grows under any conditions and thrives in full sunshine; another point in its favor is the fact that it is hardy and is not affected by temperatures as low as 18 degrees.

IT HAS ONLY ONE POINT that might be considered as malevolent, over the years it seeds itself and gradually takes over more of the garden than you intended to allow it. However, consider the Mexican Fire Plant as just another saving on the water bills.

Another shrub that calls for little choice of soil or care in cultivation is the Pink India Hawthorne. Peculiarly enough it generally grows to a height of about five feet but is apt to have a spread of seven feet. From the end of January to well on into the summer it produces attractive, pale clusters of pink flowers. Its leaves might vary from a really light green to a deep bronze. The fruit might be termed as blue-black in color. It might be considered hardy as it grows in either full sun or semi-shade. T.G.M.

Formula Advised For Family Expenditures

Keeping family spending in line while meeting all the needs of the family and as many as possible of its wants is a continuing challenge in most homes.

One way or another, limits are imposed on every family's spending. But the most satisfactory way, financial counselors say, is to set your own limits with planned spending fitted to your means, needs and wants.

However, studies by the American Finance Conference, national association of independent sales finance companies, indicate that there is a rough formula which can serve as a guide for most families.

ACCORDING TO this formula, 20 to 25 per cent of the family's monthly income should be used for rent, or monthly payments on the purchase of a home, taxes, maintenance and related items. Another 25 to 35 percent should be spent on food and household operating expenses.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By JACK CUDDY United Press International Sports Writer

NEW YORK — (UPI) — It's very likely you admired Roy Campanella as a major league catcher, just as I did.

A tremendously round man, he blocked the plate with the finesse and apparent feeling of a brick wall. He laughed, in his high pitched way, at charleyhorses and broke bones alike.

YOU REGARDED him as one of the diamond's indestructibles until an accident last winter short-circuited his nerves and mighty muscles and left him a man without motion.

Today his limbs still are locked in that prison of muscular atrophy, a paralytic of unpromising future whose arms move awkwardly as he feeds himself with therapy instruments and brushes over the pages of his well-thumbed Bible.

THOSE BRAWNY arms which just a season ago whipped the ball around the infield with the speed of a bullet or lashed one of the most feared bats in the major leagues are pipe-stem thin. The palms, once horny and calloused, are bluish white and putty-soft. The barrel-like body is breath-takingly slender as it sits inertly under a neck brace which resembles an Elizabethan collar. And there is a new round, babyish softness to the once weather-worn face with its steady brown eyes.

But that infectious smile and eternal optimism still are there.

"HE'S SIMPLY A marvel," said Campy's doctor in the voice of a man describing one of the wonders of the world. "I know from the many letters we have received that he has become one of the great spiritual forces for the rehabilitation of disabled people all over the world."

"Campy will mean more to more people from now on than he ever did during his great baseball career. As a great inspirational factor to others he is simply magnificent."

You can believe it.

THIS MAN, WHO thought nothing of catching two and yes, even three games—in one day, has never permitted his faith to let down the bars of hope. And, strangely, not hope for more than he has right now. You feel a gratefulness for the little he has left.

"I was in a lot of tough spots," he said, "but none like this. The first tough one was when that car slid off the road and hit the pole. My first thought was to turn off the engine and then I found out I was paralyzed."

"IT WAS TOUGH the second day, too, when I found out I had pneumonia and I couldn't breathe. To be paralyzed and not able to breathe is a pretty tough feeling. They lanced my throat and put in a tracheotomy tube and even so I didn't think I'd make it."

"I really prayed that night." There is doubt Campy will ever get much better, for his "level of paralysis" remains stationary. But he shrugs off the immobility of his legs.

"I'M CONCERNED with my hands and arms," he said, "and I'm tickled to death that I can feed myself and touch any part of my body."

"That may not sound like so much to you fellows, but to me it is wonderful."

Which he is, himself, and in a way he never would have been on the ball field.

'Regulars Should Get Money, Not Bonus Players'

PHILADELPHIA — (UPI) — National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell, with an ear to the turnstiles and an eye on the gate receipts, said today the "regulars" on the field should get the money—not the bonus players.

"The regulars are the guys who came up and made the team," Bert boomed as the NFL prepared to open its 39th season Sept. 28.

"They play every week," he said. "And I believe the money in all sports belongs to the players who make the club, not the guys who are paid to try and make it."

"The big money shouldn't be earmarked for bonus prospects. Look it squarely in the face. Fifty per cent of the bonus prospects don't make the club. They use up the good money the other guys draw in at the gate."

State Rivals Play Tonight At Coliseum

LA Team Given One to Three Point Margin

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams, a solid defensive club, are slight favorites to defeat the San Francisco Forty Niners, a good offensive team, tonight at the Memorial Coliseum.

The Rams are favored from one to three points, depending on who is talking, apparently because they nearly always perform well in the Coliseum.

BUT LOS ANGELES defensive players such as Dick Daugherty, Les Richter, George Strugar, John Baker and Lou Michaels figure to have a tough time with the Forty Niners, described by Coach Sid Gillman as "sensational."

"This Forty Niner team undoubtedly is the most powerful and the best balanced of any San Francisco team we've seen in the past four years," Gillman said after viewing movies of Forty Niners in action against the Cleveland Browns.

"If you want it on one word, they're sensational."

Y. A. TITTLE and Hugh McElhenny have been enough of a test for Los Angeles in the past but add John Brodie to help Tittle at quarterback and rookie Jim Pace to back up McElhenny at halfback and the Rams have a problem.

Pace was sensational last weekend when San Francisco downed the Browns, 21-16. The former Michigan star raced 150 yards in nine carries. One of the jaunts was an 86-yard run.

SO FAR THIS season, the Rams have won twice and lost twice in exhibition action. The Forty Niners have won three and lost one. The Browns, a common foe, whipped the Rams with a final-second field goal.

Last year, Los Angeles defeated the Forty Niners, 38-27, in an exhibition game but tonight the Rams hope to just beat their Bay Area rivals. Never mind the frostings.

Matthews Given Edge Over Tibbs

PHILADELPHIA — (UPI) — Unbeaten Len Matthews, young Philadelphia knockout artist, was rated even money to kayo Tommy Tibbs of Boston tonight and run his victory string to 14 in their nationally televised 10-rounder.

The oddsmakers installed the 19-year-old Matthews a 2-1 favorite to win by a decision but were willing to lay even money he'll make the Beantown boy the 13th knockout victim of his 10-month surge through the lightweight ranks.

Varsity football candidates are holding daily workouts on the Palm Springs High School football field this week to qualify for first string. The boys, who will number more than 35 by the start of school, will go through some 24 days of practice before they play their first game. After two practice games, the Indians will meet Beaumont on Oct. 10 in the first league game. The team will play every Friday for seven straight weeks (including Halloween) and will end the season against Ferris in that city on Nov. 21. (Desert Sun Photo)

Gallery Needs Scorecard for Amateur Finals

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — You can't tell the players without a scorecard in the semi-finals of the National Amateur golf tournament today.

It's Dick Foote, 20, Santa Ana, Calif., vs. Tom Aaron, 21, Gainesville, Fla., in one bracket and Roger McManus, 34, Cincinnati, Ohio, vs. Charley Coe, 34, Oklahoma City, in the other.

Johnny Dawson of Eldorado and Harvie Ward were among the losers Thursday.

They go over the 36-hole route on the Olympic Club course for the right to meet in another 36-hole final match Saturday.

All the semi-finalists except Coe are unknown to the national golfing public. McManus admits he's only a weekend golfer; and the other two youngsters haven't been around long enough to establish themselves.

But they all played brilliant golf Thursday in winning two matches to battle their way down the glory road.

Gavilan Retires Again—For Good

HAVANA (UPI) — Kid Gavilan, who came out of the sugar fields of Cuba 16 years ago to hammer his way to the world welterweight title, has retired again.

Only this time the "Keed" apparently means it. Gavilan, 32, announced Thursday night he had decided to quit fighting and accept an offer from Jorge Antonio to teach boxing to the Argentine millionaire's four young boys.

Williams, Ashburn Make Bids to Win Batting Titles

By FRED DOWN United Press International Ted Williams and Richie Ashburn are making late bids to win the major league batting titles and give Boston and Philadelphia fans something to cheer about in otherwise drab seasons.

Williams, seeking his second straight crown and the sixth of his career, moved into a virtual tie with teammate Pete Runnels for the American League lead Thursday while Ashburn, trying for his second title, cut front-runner Stan Musial's National League lead to .003 points Thursday night.

WILLIAMS WENT 2-for-4 in a 4-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox while Ashburn went 2-for-4 as the Phillies rallied to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-3.

Bob Cerv hit his 33rd homer of the season as the Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles 7-1, and rookie John Romonosky's fine relief work earned the Washington Senators a 7-6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in the only other major league activity.

WILLIAMS WITH three hits in seven tries since he returned to the lineup, increased his average to .3196. He is right behind Run-

Gene Fullmer Wants Bout With Basilio

Issues Challenge After Impressive Victory Over Webb

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Gene Fullmer, a dedicated workman whose determination often surpasses his ring skill today challenged Carmen Basilio "to quit fighting washed up welterweights and meet me for the middle weight championship."

Fullmer, who has been impatiently waiting for Champion Sugar Ray Robinson to decide whether or not to continue boxing, issued the challenge following one of the greatest wins of his career, a unanimous 10-round victory over stylish Spider Webb.

THE WEST JORDAN boxer, who once held the title before losing it back to Sugar Ray, feels his showing Thursday night against Webb earned him a shot at either number two ranked Basilio or Robinson, should the latter decide to defend.

Fullmer utilized his crowding, mauling attack featuring hooks to the body, to upset Webb, the fourth ranked middleweight. The victory came before 9,000 fans who paid an estimated gate of $80,000 to see the slugfest.

The victory was Fullmer's 46th in 50 bouts. Webb suffered his fourth loss in 33 fights.

Ryan's Salton Sea Project Given Approval

A tentative Record of Survey map for development of 320 acres of land just northeast of Salton Sea on the other side of Highway 111 and the Southern Pacific railroad track, was approved this week by the Board of Supervisors as recommended by the planning commission.

The map, submitted by Ray Ryan of Palm Springs, shows division of the property into 257 lots.

The supervisors instructed county counsel to initiate proceedings to establish a public crossing over the railroad right of way to join the development with Highway 111, with location, width, grade and improvement of the access road to be subject to approval by the county road commissioner.

The property is described as being the west half of Section 27, Township 7 South, Range 10 East.

Survey Map Approved by County Board

A record of survey tentative map for division of 62 acres northwest of Indio into 52 parcels, was approved this week by the Board of Supervisors on recommendation by the planning commission.

The property is located east of Adams street and is bound on the north by Avenue 33 and on the south by Avenue 33. The developers are Passmore Development Company and Marie J. Wallace of Thousand Palms.

Sanitary District Vote Called Off

Carl C. Preston and Ralph H. Hunter, the only nominees for two posts on the board of directors of the Coachella Sanitary District, were appointed to new terms this week by the Board of Supervisors and the election scheduled for Sept. 16 was called off.

Terms for the two directors will be four years each.

ager's apartment.

ALL UNITS WILL have refrigerated air condition and will be wired for television, Lee said.

The hotel, which has 250 feet of frontage on Palm Canyon

Grone's Offers Many Prizes In New Contest

Highlighting its annual "Back-to-School" sale, Grone's Children's Bootery shop has opened a "three-way" contest offering prizes ranging from a record player to roller skates for Village youngsters.

Heralding school opening next week the contest offers prizes in two contests, for girls from 10 to 19 and children under 14, and lists door prizes for all store visitors during the sale.

PRIZES INCLUDE a Motorola record player, Schwinn bicycles, roller skates, records, coloring books and transistor radios.

Girls between the ages of 10 and 19 are eligible for entry in the record player contest, and all girls entering the store for contest blanks will receive new 45 rpm records.

CHILDREN UNDER 14 are eligible for the bicycles and roller skates when they compete in the educational, nation-wide "Safety Coloring Book" contest.

Transistor radios will be offered as door prizes during the next few months. No purchases are required for entry into any of the contests, store officials said.

The nation's first state compulsory school attendance law was enacted by Massachusetts in 1852.

Merchants Warned to Be on Lookout For Counterfeit Postal Money Orders

Village merchants were today warned to be on the lookout for a man attempting to cash counterfeit postal money orders in the Palm Springs area.

Detective T. M. Aitken said a cash one of the bogus $96 money orders at a local gas station and may still be operating in this area.

AITKEN SAID the station attendant later read a postal warning listing the serial number of the forged money orders and alerted Village police.

The money orders, said to be in amounts of $96, $97 and $98, carry the date of August 18, are drawn on the Wabash Street Post Office, Chicago, and carry the fraudulent bank routing numbers

5-11 over 00 and serial number 38-510, 37

AITKEN REPORTED that the suspect is accompanied by a woman and is driving a brown, 1957 Ford two-door sedan, carrying a good deal of clothing in the rear seat.

The suspect, believed to be part of a large-scale counterfeit gang was described as being between 25 and 30 years old. The money order he allegedly attempted to cash carried the name of Robert Fields, Aitken said.
